

Singers of Aboriginal Songs

In May 2009 Madjitil Moorna, will travel from Perth to Halls Creek for a unique project built around cultural exchange. The project will focus on promoting positive self-esteem and good health through the healing powers of singing together in Aboriginal languages. We plan to teach our songs, learn local songs, and write new songs, which we will then perform with the children and their families for the whole town. The project was initiated by a Halls Creek elder and teacher and will be guided by her to be aware of cultural sensitivities and remain appropriate to the needs of her community. The group will be led by Aboriginal musical directors, Della Rae Morrison and George Walley.
